WONDERS OF FUTURE CITIES.

An international conference on town planning in London this week has been Smith of Washington spoke at the conconsidering the cities of the future. The gress on the effect of low temperatures most striking prophecies were those on micro-organisms. Among others of Eugene Henard, city architect of Paris. who contributed papers on the scientific He foresaw a revolution in road building application of cold were F. O. would be necessary, he believed, to reconstruct the streets at five yards above the ground level. The whole system of pipes in the services specified and also sea water and fresh air would be suspended below the bridge of the roadway. Below this would be a space 25 yards deep containing four small railway lines, including trucks for removing débris and furnishing transport for every sort of goods amd materials.

TROUBLES OF ROYALTY.

Queen Alexandra is certainly causing embarrassment to her children, as she tusists on running her household as if she were the reigning queen. She even retains her Mistress of the Robes, thus having two ladies serving in this capacity smultaneously, a thing which has not happened in a British court in centuries. She has also announced her intention of entering into social life as hitherto so soon as her period of mourning is over o there will be practically two courts In London, one at Buckingham Palace Beffe," is writing the libretto for an opera and the other at Marlborough House.
